DETAILED ACTIONDrawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "lumbar support" must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the word "means" appears in the abstract. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2,6, and 9-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Grene (#5,156,436).

Grene shows a device comprising a back support (13a) having a front side and a rear side, wherein the rear side comprises means (15) for receiving a seat belt (SB), upper torso fastening means (16a,16b) attached to the back support, leg fastening means (24) attached to the back support, and a leg support (12) integrally attached to the back support.

Art Unit: 3636

With claim 6, the fastening means are adjustable.

With claim 9, the upper torso fastening means comprises of two.

With claims 10 and 11, the leg fastening means comprises of two.

With claim 12, the upper torso fastening means cross over a chest area of the body.

With claim 13, the leg support fastening means cross over an upper thigh area of the body.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 3-5 and 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grene (#5,156,436) in view of Schmitz (#5,833,309).

Art Unit: 3636

Greene discloses the claimed invention except for the back support and leg support to have a soft cover. Schmitz teaches a car seat comprising a soft cover (10) having a lumbar support (14) to comfortably support the user's body and to prevent dusts and dirt from staining the car seat. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the soft cover (10) of Schmitz's invention on Greene's device, in order to provide a cover to comfortably support the user's body and prevent dusts and dirt from staining the device.

With claim 5, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to have the fastening means to be color coded to provide an aesthetic pleasing appearance.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Kain, Baloga, Johnston et al, and Williams et al are cited as showing similar types of device.
